

1

Once per game, you may steal one treasure from the supply before shares are allocated.

2

Once per game, you may become the captain and reallocate shares to all characters before voting.

3

Once per game, you may declare a mutiny by all characters except the captain before voting.

4

Once per game, you may swap allocated shares with one other character before voting.

5

Once per game, you may peek at all characters' allocated shares before voting.

6

Once per game, you may claim your allocated share regardless of how you voted.

You are the captain.
Each round, allocate shares to all characters before voting.

7

Once per game, you may participate in a mutiny regardless of how you voted.

After each round, the parrot steals one of bottle of rum from you.
Then, if any characters have more bottles of rum than you, give the parrot to one of them.

